TWENTY-THREE GET DIPLOMAS HERE AT HIGH SCHOOL

February Class of 1930 Holds
Commencement Exercises
Before Large Audience

GEO. ELLIOTT SPEAKS

Compliments Parents on Self-
Sacrificial Attitude Toward Their Children

"We are tonight paying tribute to progress, that which our forefathers down through the ages have ever striven for," was one of the opening remarks of George W. Elliott, Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce secretary, addressed to the graduates of the February Class of 1930, Bristol High School, and the large audience gathered in the high school auditorium for the exercises, last night.

Timely advice was given to the 23 graduates of Bristol High by the former director of public safety of Philadelphia. "Every day teachers and parents throughout the land are striving to assist you and other young folks to fit your individuality to better things, trying to help you to become a great entity in this thing we call civilization," he continued.

The speaker, who had been introduced by Howard E. James, superintendent of public schools, extended his congratulations to the parents present, and expressed his pleasure with the self-sacrificial attitude of parents in all sections of the country. "You have helped give to the girls and boys, through your years of sacrifice something that will give them a rating in this world."

Mr. Elliott asked that thought be given to the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, who is being honored at this season. The deeds of the martyred president and his attitude on many problems that confronted him formed the basis for a great portion of the address of the evening. "As you graduate and leave your schoolmates and the faculty I say that you are going out as a part of humanity, and you must learn to help humanity even as the great Lincoln did. You must recognize the value of creating that faculty of understanding human-kind."

"From the courses you have pursued you must learn how to grow and how to apply your growth. You must use your learning to the limit of your ability. Some are content to just get by—to just get through. Oh! what a mistake that is! You must realize that you have great responsibilities and learn how to meet them."

"It is not sufficient for you to say you have a diploma. It isn't enough for you to say you have gotten through. Your loved ones and your teachers are sending you out into the world to fill a responsibility. . . . America today is calling to the graduates of our schools. Men and women are wanted who can discipline themselves. America is facing crucial times. Your responsibility is great. It is incumbent upon you that you recognize these responsibilities."

Putting a query to the group about to receive their diplomas the chamber of commerce secretary asked, "How easily would it have been for Abraham Lincoln to make excuses in his day? He did not have education, or the backing that you have. He did not have opportunities that many young people of today have. Yet, I want to tell you that this one had so much to give his nation. I challenge you to give the best that is in you. America today is calling to the young people as she has never called before."

Two essays were read during the course of the evening's program. Miss Dorothy Descamps read one written by Miss Norma Whyatt, "Roads of Life." "Peace" was the title of the Mothers Association prize essay written by and read by Miss Sue Strumfels. The valedictory was given by Miss Mildred Mershon, and the salutatory by Miss Clara Lerman.

Miss Marian Smith, a member of the high school faculty, lead the senior high school in two chorus selections: "In the Garden of Tomorrow" (Depen), and "I Love to Hear You Singing" (Wood). Music was furnished by an orchestra.

The Grundy medal, which is presented to the member of the graduating class who attains the highest average throughout the high school course, was presented to Miss Mildred Mershon. Miss Mershon's average was 90.65. The presentation was made by Doron Green, president of the school board.

Mr. Green was assisted by Russell B. Cary, secretary of the board, in the presentation of the diplomas and books, the latter being gifts of the school board.

The motto which had been selected by the class members was: "Work and learn at first hand" (Alice Cary).

The graduates who were last night presented with their diplomas are:

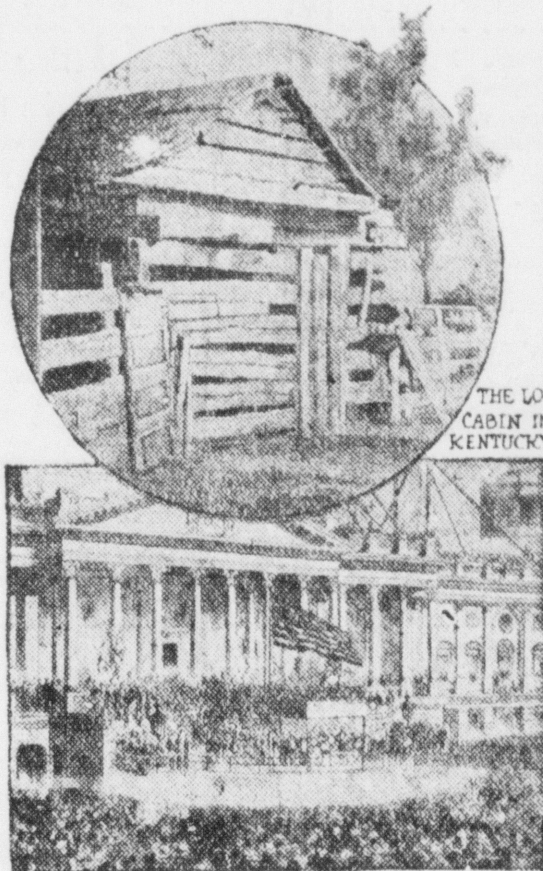

Classical course: Misses Marguerite C. Colgan, Clara R. Lerman, Sue Strumfels, Roberta H. Pearson, Mildred L. Randall.

Scientific course: John F. Wright.

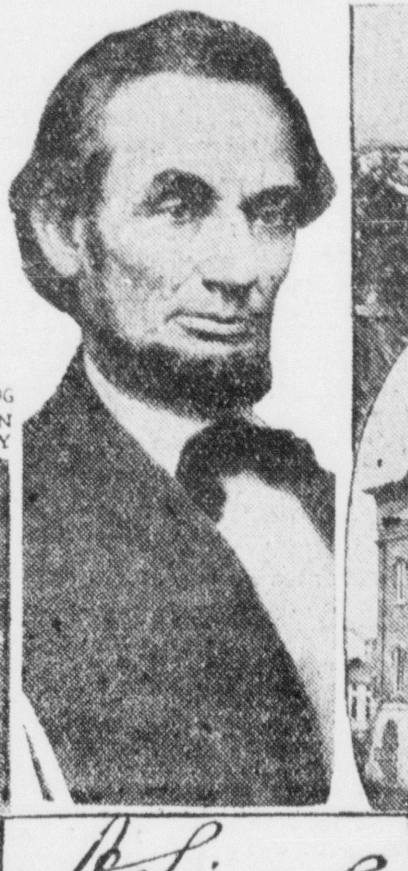

General course: Samuel Dries, and Theodore G. Hanson.

PROHIBIT BASEBALL ON HIGH SCHOOL DIAMOND

Complaints Made As It Is Considered Dangerous For Children of Neighborhood

WINDOWS WERE BROKEN

"Notice is hereby given to the public that the privilege of playing baseball on the high school grounds, at the corner of Wilson avenue and Harrison street, is withdrawn," reads a notice made public today by the Bristol school board.

This action is due to a complaint made by Councilman Zebley of the Sixth Ward to Burgess Clifford L. Anderson, who in turn communicated with the school authorities.

Councilman Zebley stated that windows in the houses on Harrison street, were often broken by foul balls, and that it was dangerous for the children to play in the yards surrounding the homes, when a baseball game was in progress.

"It is with regret that the school board is obliged to take this action, but as complaint has been made, it left but one course open. In the spring, during the baseball season, the athletic council of the high school erects a movable backstop which affords adequate protection to the property in the vicinity. But owing to the use of the field for other athletic activities, it is necessary to remove the backstop when the baseball season is over."

"A sign is being prepared and will be placed at the entrance to the grounds, notifying the public that no trespassing will be allowed. Those who disobey will be subject to arrest and prosecution."

"Should the Twilight Baseball League or any other organization which has a standing in the community, desire the use of the grounds during the summer season, and be willing to erect a covered back-stop to protect the property in the vicinity, satisfactory arrangements can be made by communicating with Dr. William C. LeCompte, the chairman of the property committee of the School Board."

"Burgess Anderson, who officially notified the School Board of the complaint of Councilman Zebley, has been informed of the action taken and the aid of the Police Department will be used to enforce the law."

Market Crash

Group Two, Pennsylvania Bankers, convened today in the Bellevue-Stratford, Philadelphia. The main business session got under way at noon and after giving consideration to the things which effect banking as a whole throughout the district and the nation at large, the bankers partook of a banquet and listened to several interesting speeches.

The speakers were all men of prominence in banking circles and included William H. Hutt, deputy governor, Federal Reserve Bank, Philadelphia; Joseph F. Hill, cashier, National Bank of Chester County, West Chester, and G. E. Gaugloff, vice-president and trust officer, Schuylkill Trust Company, Pottsville, Pa.

The first speaker, Mr. Hutt, took as his topic: "Bank Loans and Investments." Mr. Hill discussed "Country Bankers Prospecting for Gold," while G. E. Gaugloff spoke on "Trust Department."

Thomas Scott, cashier of The Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, Bristol, retired as president of the group. Mr. Scott, in his address surrendering his office, spoke in part as follows:

"It affords me great pleasure to extend hearty greetings to you, members of Group 2, and our guests on this occasion."

"I will promise not to bore you with a lengthy address, as I have recently passed through a rather unpleasant experience and prefer not to place too great confidence in a broken leg, so will crave your indulgence and endeavor to be brief."

"The year of 1929 has passed into history, and will long be recalled by you as the culmination of a period of inflated stock values such as had not been witnessed for several generations."

"Those of us, who like wet hens, had been croaking our admonition for the past two years, and warning our friends that the laws of nature will prevail, in that 'What goes up must come down,' saw our predictions verified."

"But, it may be said to the credit of the banks that when the crash came, the banks performed nobly, and many a business man, today, is on his feet and at the head of a going concern, instead of having had his shirt taken from his back as a result of too close application to the stock tickers."

"The question which caused considerable concern, at that time, was as to whether the fluctuations of stock market values would seriously affect general business conditions. As several months have elapsed since the upheaval in the market occurred, the decision of those men to clear vision, who have given the subject close study, may be accepted without reservation, that is, that the rise and fall of prices in the stock market have little effect upon the ebb and flow of trade and commerce which are governed mainly by the laws of supply and demand."

"The year of 1930 promises to be one in which employment will equal that of the year that has closed, although just at the present time, conditions are unfavorable."

"As a measure to instill confidence, when the stock market panic was at its height, the President of the United States, very wisely called together the leaders of industry, the utilities and the rails, and received their assurance that hundreds of millions of dollars would be expended in the expansion of their plants."

Denies Knowledge of Book Being Sold to Raise Campaign Fund

Senator Joseph R. Grundy has not authorized the publication of any book or books by means of which funds are to be collected for any campaign, according to a statement made by the Senator today in Washington, D. C.

"I have no knowledge of any such book or books nor have I authorized the use of my name in the solicitation of contributions for the publication of such book or books," said Senator Grundy.

Yesterday a man giving the name of "J. Worcester" was going about town showing the prospectus of a book entitled "Joseph R. Grundy—The Man."

Orders for the books were being solicited at $25 a hundred. It was intimated by the solicitor that the money received from the sale of the books was to be used toward financing the campaign of Mr. Grundy.

LINCOLN'S ANNIVERSARY

At a time when more or less irresponsible assertions are heard in various quarters that democracy is on trial in the Old World, the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln is an appropriate occasion for a renewal of faith in that American democracy of which he was the product. The assertion that democracy does not produce great men sounds absurd when Lincoln is mentioned. In all the range of recorded history, no form of political society has ever produced a greater or nobler example of the possibilities of free manhood.

The humblest youth, whether native or foreign born, sees in Lincoln the proof that in this land of equal opportunity there is no limit to attainment by anyone who possesses courage and adaptability, conjoined with the talent—or as may be, the genius—to recognize and grasp the special openings that come in his way.

Lincoln had not the advantage that comes from birth in a wealthy family, nor the prestige conferred by a great university. He was, in the best sense, self-made. His formal schooling under frontier conditions totalled less than a year. Yet by natural worth he rose to be the head of this powerful Republic, and when there guided its destinies through the tremendous crisis of the Civil War with a masterliness that compelled the homage of the rulers and peoples of Europe.

In that almost miraculous firmness can be seen by all men the mettle of democracy, the unrelenting purpose of the man who had fought his way upwards. Yet with this unyielding rigor went a nature as kindly, as generous, as sympathetic with suffering or grief-stricken humanity, as could be found anywhere among the teeming millions of men. Those who were privileged to see the gentle smile of pity that often transfigured that countenance which was often described as homely have handed down the tradition of its beauty.

Abraham Lincoln is the complete vindication of American democracy. He sprung from the "plain people," whom he loved, was among the greatest of men.

BUILT TO OUT-PERFORM

...the vital reason why BUICK out-sells every other fine car by 2 to 1

Keep in mind, when you buy your car, that you are buying miles—and that you will get more and better miles in a Buick, as more than 2,400,000 owners have proved.

Buick builds so thoroughly—builds extra strength and stamina into the Buick Valve-in-Head engine and sealed chassis—that many Buicks, five, ten or fifteen years of age, are still in service...and the speedometers of many of these cars register 100,000 miles and more.

Buick is built to out-perform. This, together with the beauty and comfort of Buick's Bodies by Fisher, explains why America is driving 700,000 more Buicks than any other car in Buick's price class...and why Buick today wins from two to five times as many buyers as any other car priced above $1200. Come, see Buick's wide range of body types. Then take the wheel! A single drive will convince you that Buick is the big motor car value of the day.

Buick offers 15 body types, priced from $1260 to $2070, f. o. b. factory. Marquette offers 6 body types, ranging from $970 to $1060. Special equipment extra.

Convenient terms can be arranged on the liberal C. M. A. C. time payment plan. Buick and Marquette delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing. Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values.

A Big Time in Store For Fathers' Association

Preparations are still being made for the "big" smoker to be held tomorrow evening in the high school auditorium, under the auspices of the Fathers' Association.

The talent already secured has been augmented by the American Legion orchestra, which kindly offered its services. This willingness on the part of the Legion, to co-operate in everything having as its object an increase of interest in the betterment of the town, is building up a spirit of civic pride which is helpful and commendable.

There will be musical numbers by Anthony Cashmere, dancing specialties by Joseph Bracco and piano selection by Keith Rosser. The basketball teams will be made up of members of the Fathers' Association, who are employed by the Keystone Aircraft Corporation, and from the members of the Y. M. C. A., most of whom have been stars on the Bristol High School teams, in the years gone by. A spirited contest is anticipated.

The Fathers' Association is doing a splendid work in its support of the schools. At the class night exercises held on last Thursday evening, Dr. Frank Lehman, in behalf of the Association, presented a half dozen prizes, to the students in the graduating class. These prizes are arranged so as to act as an inspiration from different angles. Watches are given to the boy and girl who attain the highest averages each year. Other prizes are given for the best all around development, for the highest average attained in mathematics, and for athletic development, etc.

The silk flag which stands at the side of the stage having become worn from constant use, is to be replaced tomorrow evening by a beautiful new flag, the gift of the Fathers' Association. The presentation will be made by Stanford K. Runyon, president, and the flag accepted by Warren P. Snyder, principal of the high school.

All men of the town are invited to attend the meeting tomorrow evening. Pipes and tobacco will be furnished free. A cafeteria luncheon will be served at the conclusion.

pansion of their business, provided, and the provision appears to be a wise one, provided, that a meddlesome body of law makers would permit business to be conducted without being hectorated or constantly placed upon the rack.

"While in a general sense the expenditure of these vast sums will stimulate business to a certain extent, yet it will be a long while before it filters through, so as to benefit all classes.

"It means little to the man who stands behind the loom, weaving a rug, the girl employed at a machine, knitting stockings, or to the worker in a cement works. To these, and to others employed in similar occupations, the insertion of a protective clause in the proposed tariff legislation, now before the Senate of the United States, would give greater assurance of future employment, in that it would stop the flow to our shores of products manufactured abroad by cheap labor.

"It would appear that both industry and labor are, just at the present time, having rather an uphill fight in order to secure legislation that will permit the maintaining of standards of living, such as the American workman is accustomed to.

"I refer to this phase of the political situation simply because I believe, and I think that you will agree with me, that the employment of labor is one of the foundations upon which our business rests. When labor is employed, our deposits increase, when labor is unemployed—well, you gentlemen from the hard coal regions need no further illustration.

"The day is rapidly approaching, if it is not already here, when it will be incumbent upon every clear thinking banker to take an interest in the elec-

"To illustrate how your interests may be affected, I would like to present for your consideration, several bills which are at present before Congress, and for the receipt of which I am greatly indebted to our good friend, Congressman Louis T. McFadden.

"With your permission, I will run over these briefly:

Victor Radio

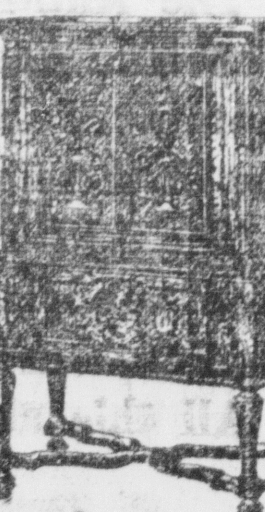

challenges comparison with any radio at any price

We stand behind Victor with our name and reputation and here are our reasons why:

VICTOR RADIO R-32

The world's finest radio ever in a simple, modern, compact cabinet. Anyone can afford it at $135. Its price, less Radiotrons.

VICTOR RADIO ELECTROLA RE-75

A surprisingly beautiful instrument; the best work in luxury. Same equipment as RE-45; cabinet of extraordinary richness and classical design. List price, $350, less Radiotrons.

Victor Performance:

We have investigated, tested and compared, and we can find no radio instrument to surpass Victor's all-around performance, in sensitivity, selectivity, fidelity.

Victor Tone:

Tone — which means brilliancy, color, actual realism, utterly convincing reproduction of what the broadcasting microphone receives. Scientific measuring instruments, impartial and infallible, have proven that Victor's tone range extends higher and lower than that of any other commercial radio instrument. EAR-TEST reveals Victor Radio Tone as absolutely beyond comparison. Tone is the soul of music—music is the soul of radio. Listen for tone instead of sales-talk.

Victor Appearance:

Victor has designed almost the only really distinctive radio cabinets; beautiful, dignified, distinguished and backed by Victor's thirty-year experience and reputation in the cabinet-making industry. A Victor instrument is all-Victor built.

Victor Reputation:

Victor's standards of quality are known in every country in the world. Victor experience and Victor achievements in sound reproduction, extend in unbroken sequence through the past thirty years. The Victor trademark is a guarantee of excellence.

Victor Value:

Victor value is a known quantity. Rightly and fairly priced from the beginning, Victor Radio cannot become bargain-counter merchandise. Your satisfaction depends on what you get, not what you spend. Victor gives you more for your money—and new Victor Radio is sold at the lowest prices ever asked for Victor instruments of such quality.

By Special Arrangement

We have made arrangements to place Victor Radio, in any one of the four beautiful models, in your home for demonstration. You can enjoy, test and compare the instrument without disturbance, distraction or high-pressure salesmanship. It will cost nothing, it will not obligate you, to make this home test. Come—while our stock is complete—and select the instrument you wish to hear at home.
